

Travel Policy

Booking Business Travel

All domestic and international business travel must be booked through the approved corporate travel desk. Economy class is standard for domestic travel; Premium Economy is permitted for international flights exceeding 6 hours.

Hotel Accommodation

Employees should book 3-star or 4-star hotel accommodation within the per-city rate caps published on the HR portal. Any exception requires manager pre-approval.

Local Conveyance and Taxi Expenses

Local conveyance incurred during official business travel, including taxis, ride-hailing services such as Uber or Ola, and airport transfers, are reimbursable expenses. Employees must retain receipts for any single taxi fare exceeding USD 10. Where a receipt is unavailable, a self-certified expense entry may be used for smaller amounts, subject to manager approval. All such claims should be filed following the standard reimbursement process described in the Expense Policy, within 30 days of completing travel.

Travel Advances

Employees travelling internationally may request a travel advance of up to USD 500 through the Expense Policy's advance request workflow, to be settled within 15 days of return.

Per Diem

A daily meal per diem applies for outstation travel, at rates published on the HR portal by destination city, and does not require itemized receipts.
